

Teaching the Next Generation: The Garden As Your Classroom

April 2, 2016 @ 1:00 PM

Iowa City Campus, Kirkwood Community College, Commons
1816 Lower Muscatine Road, Iowa City, IA

Learn the basics of starting and maintaining a garden * Review district and community resources available for school gardens * Hear the latest research linking school gardens with higher test scores and other benefits to students * Participate in hands-on educational activities using existing ICCSD curriculum in the garden for K-12 students * & More!

Featuring: Jen Kardos, Backyard Abundance * Elizabeth Maas, Kirkwood Community College * Ben Grimm, Iowa City Community School District * Scott Koepke, New Pi Soilmates * Michelle Kenyon, Field to Family * Plus school garden leaders, teachers, volunteers, and students *

More information at fieldtofamily.org; backyardabundance.org or by contacting Michelle Kenyon fieldtofamilyiowacity@gmail.com (319) 325-2701

Free & open to all! Registration encouraged at Eventbrite.

Support for this workshop comes from Kirkwood
Community College & New Pioneer Food Co-op.

